

FAL for Students

Fieldwork in Anthropology and Linguistics

Thursday 8 April 2021, 14:15–16:15

Zoom: uu-se.zoom.us/j/65970315247

In this event the FAL network provides a informal forum for students of the Anthropology and Linguistics & Philology departments to discuss their fieldwork related activities, to exchange ideas and perspectives, to learn from each other. We will hear from a panel of selected students and have plenty of time for discussion.

14:15 Introduction

14:25 Déborah Aleia Aldana Shelton (Linguistics & Philology)

Introducing the USSForum

14:45 Jossias Humbane (Cultural Anthropology)

Climate change and local adaptations strategies in Gaza Province

15:05 Break

15:15 Emil Mannby (Linguistics and Philology)

Linguistic e-fieldwork

15:35 Márcia Manhique (Cultural Anthropology)

The pregnant body between reproductive technologies, subjectivities, and vulnerabilities in Maputo city, Mozambique

15:55 Concluding Remarks

The network FAL: Fieldwork in Anthropology and Linguistics seeks to bring together anthropologists and linguists for whom fieldwork is a fundamental component. The world hosts an immense diversity of both cultures as well as languages, the bulk of which are rapidly disappearing in the globalized world. Hence, it is a matter of urgency that they be documented before they will be lost forever. Descriptive fieldwork is the main modus operandi and it needs to be done efficiently, ethically and dynamically responding to a changing world.

MOST WELCOME!

www.lingfil.uu.se/forskning/fal

